

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A golf club head (21) for a putter, in which the club head (21) is provided with a toe wing (31) projecting from a toe portion (23), and a heel wing (31') projecting from a heel portion (25), each of the wings (31, 31') being provided with an outward 5 side surface (37) diverging in a direction away from a striking face (27), the toe wing (31) and the heel wing (31') being connected to one or more bracing means (65, 71, 71', 73).